AMY'S TATTOO

BY ALISON MANN

This new Tasmanian play heralds the arrival of an exceptional playwriting talent and caps off a great season of timely, relevant theatre in our Studio Theatre.

Amy's Tattoo is a gritty tale of attraction, love, friendship and family. It challenges social taboos, questions the paradox of nature and nurture and is unafraid of the space between the dark places.

Amy is a talented local tattoo artist, who's world is changed by the entrance of John, a teenage champion swimmer conceived using one of her eggs donated anonymously 20 years ago.

Amy's Tattoo was developed during Alison Mann's time as Writer in Residence as part of Blue Cow Theatre's Cowshed playwrights and plays development program, and follows her critically acclaimed The Surgeon's Hands.

Developed in Blue Cow Theatre's, Cowshed program and supported by Blue Cow Theatre's 300 Club new Tasmanian Theatre patron program.
