CHASER.COM.AU AND THE SHOVEL PRESENTS

SPIN - ELECTION 2022

Just in time for the federal election, Charles Firth (from The Chaser), James Schloeffel (from The Shovel) and Mark Humphries (from ABC's 7:30) are joining forces to provide a masterclass in the ancient art of lying.

From political messaging to corporate deception, they'll show you how to bullsh*t your way through the trickiest situations life can throw at you.

You'll learn how to:

- prepare the perfect curry to distract from your latest policy disaster
- avoid answering tricky questions by pretending you've already answered them
- create a TV ad for your bank that doesn't once mention that you're funding coal mining
- increase diversity in your organisation through the clever use of stock photography
- decode what's going on in the key electorates, major parties and Craig Kelly's head

Charles and James are the brains behind two of Australia's most popular satirical websites. Mark is the good looking one. Together they've performed to sold-out audiences across the country for more than five years, with their unique brand of biting satire and political comedy.
